

CLASS FOUR NEWS

It has been a strange and exciting week in Class Four. It has been strange not to have the Y6s while they are away on residential and exciting to have the Y4s join us for some of the sessions. We have completed a number of maths investigations with the Y4s - including looking at patterns with square numbers and thinking about how quickly doubling can increase the size of a number. Would you rather be given £1 million pounds on 1st June or 1p that is then doubled each day of June until you have an amount of money given to you on the 30th? We thought about ourselves on Monday and wrote notes about family, friends, favourites and ambitions. We then turned the notes into a mini autobiography. Mr Norton will enjoy reading these and finding out a little more about us! It has been nice to have Jack, Freddie W and Francesca in school with us. They have all worked hard on sorting out the library, making it tidy and easier to use. We have heard that the Y6s on residential have been having a good time - despite the weather. At least Thursday and Friday were hot and sunny. They were excellent at mountain boarding: Mr Norton told us that Emilia was particularly good at it by the end of the session. We had a wonderful day of art with Mrs Scowen on Thursday. We have created new canvases either inspired by British Values or Protected Characteristics. After we planned them in watercolours in our Art books, we used a variety of media on the canvases, including acrylic and sharpies. It was lovely to be out on the field for PE today in the nice weather.

QUESTIONS

Qu 1: What do you remember about the Eddystone Lighthouse?

Qu 2: Can you talk to someone about square numbers?

Qu 3: How did your drama explain Humanist and Christian viewpoints?

